Wagner in der Wildnis XVIII: Tristan and Isolde

Our 18th Annual Weekend Retreat (A MEMBERS-ONLY EVENT)

Friday, June 1 to Sunday, June 3, 2018

Cacapon Resort State Park
Berkeley Springs, West Virginia 25411

Priority for rooms in the Main Lodge will be allocated according to membership level. Some participants may need to be accommodated in near-by motels.

DEADLINE TO APPLY: MARCH 15, 2018

Background: Having studied all ten of Richard Wagner's mature operas, we are now taking a second look at his most ground-breaking. We will have the privilege of an in-depth journey guided by our "dream team" presenters:

Pianist Jeffrey Swann offers his prized lecture-demonstrations at the piano. An internationally renowned concert pianist, he is known from previous Wildnis weekends, his concert performances for the Wagner Society of Washington DC, his talk for the Smithsonian Institution Tristan und Isolde seminar in 2004, and his lectures at Bayreuth.

Professor Simon Williams, recently retired from the University of California at Santa Barbara, presents his insightful lectures on Wagner and drama. His latest books: Wagner and the Romantic Hero, now in paperback; A History of German Theatre; and, in 2015, The Cambridge Encyclopedia of Stage Actors and Acting.

The program features lecture and discussion sessions, informal conversations between sessions and at meals with lecturers and members, a DVD showing, and more.

Cacapon State Park, near Berkeley Springs, WVA, is a two-hour drive from downtown Washington. Car pools can be arranged. See <http://www.cacaponresort.com> for a virtual tour.

Registration Fee to be paid in full by March 15: $460 per person (single room); $380 per person (sharing a double room) includes lectures, two nights' lodging, breakfast, lunch, dinner, morning coffee, a welcome cocktail, and two after-hours parties.

See the reverse side for further details and the registration form.
